debate style readers can be powerful teaching tools but only if the readings really speak to one another otherwise the crux of the debate is lost on students peter m haas and john m hird s controversies in globalization solves this issue by inviting 17 pairs of scholars and practitioners to write specifically for the volume directly addressing key questions in international relations through concise yes and no pieces on topics related to security political economy the environment public health democracy demography and social issues at the request of reviewers new to this edition are three chapters covering the financial crisis maritime security and international conflict chapter headnotes written by the editors effectively frame each debate and make clear what is at stake from both theoretical and practical perspectives concluding discussion questions in each chapter encourage critical thinking and analysis the third edition of this popular classroom text provides thoroughly revised and updated discussions of key topics including ethno nationalist conflict terrorism and poverty and development as j milburn thompson masterfully brings a christian perspective to bear on the world situation with this book he provides an introduction to current obstacles to justice and peace across the globe and encourages christians to draw upon an informed faith to transform themselves and the world this book is about imperialism driven globalization its historic impact on africa latin america and asia and over time the varied responses of the national political units and regional entities in these continents to the challenges of building countervailing power and laying foundations for independent development where genuine recovery and empowerment have emerged this has been the result not only of the pursuit of dignitalist political and economic values that emphasize robust and sustained productivity geared toward uplifting the living standards and dignity of all the members of the national society but also of the creation of indigenous institutions whose relations with the external world are defined by equality rather than dependence and subordination opoku agyeman argues that dignification is the fundamentally necessary response to imperialism s inevitable afflictions of national racial humiliation it is the most crucial ingredient in the complex of motivations that propel formerly weak nation states and regional communities to rise up and defend the honor of their people as mao zedong told the world in 1949 ours will no longer be a nation subject to insult and humiliation we have stood up this study argues emphatically that it is a country s or region s developed or developing capabilities not its historic and continuing victimization or habitual dependence on charitable aid and other altruistic interventions from the international community that determines its success in escaping the scourge of powerlessness and underdevelopment it further maintains that a people who have been brought low through brutal dehumanizing imperialism cannot bypass the need for redemptive empowerment if they wish to regain honor and a proper place in the world finally it takes issue with joseph stiglitz jeffrey sachs and others like them whose moralistic critiques of the rapacity of imperialistic globalization carry the unfortunate implication that it is possible for a fair and just world social order to come out of incremental reforms of philanthropically motivated developed powerful countries in the structure and operations of global capitalism the pauline epistles are filled with beautiful and provocative metaphors for the church it is a bride a body a flock a temple each of these metaphors emphasizes the central unity and indivisibility of the people of god yet how do christians live out this unity in the face of ethnic conflict tribalism and political divisions in this powerful application of paul s teaching fabrice s katembo explores the mystery of the church in an african context arguing that the greatest challenge facing god s people is not external threat but internal discord katembo draws his reader s attention back to the unifying work of christ who died to abolish all walls of separation and in whom we are one no matter the tongue tribe or nation providing an overview of paul s life and ministry and engaging the work of renown theologians such as john mbiti and kwame bediako this is an excellent resource for anyone facing intercultural tensions within the church it is also a vital reminder that far from harmless divisions between believers threaten to cripple the body of christ by distorting its witness injuring its members and separating what christ died to unify this volume explores the domestic and transnational considerations associated with indonesia s ascent referring to its rise in terms of hard and soft power and its likely trajectory in the future the range of contributors analyse economic resources religious harmony security regional relations leadership and foreign policy
